

SOCIALISM SCRAPS WITH COMMUNISM

Fist Fights Incidents of Uproar in Battle for Control of Italian Congress.

SCHISM SEEMS CERTAIN

Third Internationale of Moscow an Issue to Be Decided To-morrow.

By the Associated Press.

LEONARDO, Italy, Jan. 15.—Communism and socialism marched forward this afternoon at the session of the Italian Socialist Congress. Tumultuous scenes were enacted and during the upsurge fist fights among the delegates were numerous. To observers of the proceedings there seemed to be no doubt from the beginning of the session that the issue of Bolshevism would be fought out in this congress.

Every mention of Communism and Socialism brought forth cheering or protests from the respective opposing sides. Signor Bombacci, president, opened the congress by sketching the history of the Socialist party in fighting against prejudices and in overcoming all obstacles. "Our work will remain a glorious heritage to all," he said.

Signor Bombacci then mentioned the names of Dr. Karl Liebknecht and Rosa Luxemburg, German Socialists who were killed in Berlin during the disorders of 1919, and who he characterized as martyrs. At the mention of their names there was pandemonium in the hall. The Communists raised cries of "Hurrah for Communism!" which antagonized the Socialists, and there ensued a fierce battle of words between the various factions throughout the hall. In the confusion some of the delegates stood on the benches gesticulating and shouting until they were exhausted.

Invokes Voices of Dead.

Signor Bombacci finally was able to resume his address, which he finished with the words: "Long live the voices which come to us from the dead, from the prisons, from the exiles, in which the proletariat of all countries unite."

There was one test of strength this afternoon, though no count was taken of the vote. It was made on the raising of hands on a motion by Deputy Misiano, which the congress approved, changing the sixth item on the calendar to the fourth item. This item dealt exclusively with the reports of the Third Moscow Internationale and the action the Italian party intends to take with regard to it. The Communists are most insistent in adhering to the Internationale and were the authors of the change in the program so as to hasten a final decision on this point. There now remain to be discussed only three items, which deal with the reports of the organization and the reports of the secretary and the treasurer. Then it is anticipated there will be a vote on the question of adherence to the Internationale next Monday.

The French are stopping you!" shouted some spectator.

Herr Levy ended by urging the carrying on of the principles of Communism and the making of arms for the proletariat. "Provide yourselves with the arms and munitions necessary for victory," he said.

Party Good Not Always in Union.

During his speech Herr Levy said: "The good of a party is not always in union. There are moments in party life when the different elements cannot go forward together. It is an Liebknecht said, when there are two parties there is no unity. We look for the German Communist party to carry the German proletariat to victory."

"The French are stopping you!" shouted some spectator.

MADRID, Jan. 15.—Mr. Fernando de los Rios and Daniel Angulano, Spanish Socialist delegates who recently visited Moscow to investigate the Soviet administration, submitted their report to-day to the national Socialist committee. They declined to disclose its contents, but declared that Lenin, Trotsky and Bucharin, the latter president of the Third Internationale of Moscow, constituted a great force. Señores de los Rios and Angulano asserted their belief that Bucharin was the coming leader of the extremely radical elements.

After the national committee reviews the report, the Socialist party will call a national congress to decide the attitude of Spanish Socialists.

FEAR OF GUILLOTINE LEADS TO REPENTANCE

French Prisoner Asks for His First Communion.

Deathbed repentances are a common occurrence, but the Paris police have just encountered the first instance of a condemned criminal asking to be allowed to take his first communion before being led to the guillotine. This proved to be the special request for which the murderer, Le Cardonnell, who killed a police inspector, called in the State prosecutor.

The date of the execution was to have been set for the end of January, but it is believed that the priest will recommend an extension to permit of a full period of instruction in religious principles. Le Cardonnell already has given indications of his conversion by telling the police of the hiding places of several much wanted criminals.

NO LEGAL BIRTH, SO HE LOSES COLLEGE DEGREE

London Youth Finds No Rec-

There is a young man in London who recently discovered that from a legal standpoint he does not exist and therefore was never born. The worst of it is that he doesn't know just how he is going to straighten matters out and that it may result in his losing a university degree.

It was in order to take his university degree that this young man, the third child in a family of five, applied at Somerset House, the British depository of records, for a copy of his birth registration certificate. He then found that although all his brothers and sisters had been registered his own birth apparently had been overlooked. Not having a legal existence he will not obtain his degree, although qualified in every other way.
